

Ensure Regulatory Compliance and Drive Business Value with Bluespring BPM Technology

----- Standardization ----- Privacy & Security ----- Visibility ----- Governance ----- Auditability ----- Agility ----- Risk Reduction -----

Sarbanes-Oxley, HIPAA, the Patriot Act, HACCP, 24CFR11 and other government regulations all have two things in common; they were created to drive adherence and require the burden of proof. This burden of proof costs Organizations over 4,800 additional hours on compliance efforts.

Since enterprise-wide processes consist primarily of manual activities or work performed by people, any process management infrastructure put into place must effectively incorporate human work to lay true claim to organization-wide compliance.....and that's where Bluespring BPM comes into play to tie everything together through:

Standardization

The process will always be performed in the same way.

Privacy & Security

Information is shared only with those with clearance, when they need to know it and with only the pieces of information needed to perform their duties.

Visibility

Executives have dashboards that yield insight into the effectiveness of their compliance program. Process owners have "real time" reporting into functioning, compliance-driven processes.

Governance

Laws, policies and procedures set forth by assigned compliance resources drive the business rules that steer the process.

Auditability

Compliance can be demonstrated any time rather than waiting for annual consulting engagements (audits).

Agility

As your business evolves, processes can be updated instantly in order to sustain compliance without needing to turn any updates into an "IT project."

Risk Reduction

Visibility 365 days per year allows you to proactively drive compliance rather than waiting for an annual audit form which to react.

Bluespring BPM provides a compliance framework on which to implement and automate processes your organization has already documented and your staff is already following 99% of the time. With Bluespring, you automatically build an audit trail every minute, hour and day as your staff works through the process. No training, no business change is required other than now providing your proof of adherence through reports and not boxes of paper and weeks of work.
